MAYOR ADDRESSES INAUGURAL MEETING

France Halts Arms Flow To Israel As Raid Sequel

From AP-Reuters
France and Lebanon were in the forefront of the latest developments in the Middle East crisis today.
France cut off delivery of all military equipment to Israel, including jet plane spare parts, a move that could cripple the air force that is Israel's prime strike weapon.
A French government spokesman said the embargo was intended as a warning, because Israel's reprisal attack on the Beirut airport was out of all proportion to the incident which occasioned it.
That was an attack by two Arabs from Beirut on an Israeli airliner in Athens in which an Israeli was killed.
Premier Abdullah Yafi of Lebanon, under fire since the Israeli commando raid on Beirut International Airport, handed in his resignation today, but a government spokesman said President Charles Helou has not accepted it yet.
The Israeli Air Force of French jet fighters scored the first knockout blow in the Arab-Isreali war of 1967, virtually destroying the Jordanian, Syrian and Egyptian air forces in a matter of hours.
Since then, Israeli's Mystere and Mirage fighters have repeatedly attacked Arab positions, particularly in Jordan, in retaliation for artillery and guerrilla attacks on Israeli settlements and patrols.

The French action was expected to add urgency to Israel's requests for quick delivery of 50

U.S. Phantom jet fighters. Washington announced Dec. 27 it had agreed to sell the planes to Israel, with delivery to begin some time this year and to continue through 1970.
The $200,000,000 U.S. deal includes spare parts and training of air crews.

Kelowna Work-To-Rule Drive Ordered Intensified By Union

"Continue and intensify the work-to-rule campaign," provincial government employees in Kelowna have been told.
"Taking part in a province-wide protest by the B.C. Government Employees' Association, about 150 civil servants in Kelowna are expected to slow their operations as a result of the order from the association's Vancouver headquarters.
But the Kelowna local will also pull down a veil of silence on the campaign. "No more press releases except from Vancouver," said Frank Brown, local president, when asked today about the effect on the city of the campaign.
He said a meeting of the Kelowna executive will be called shortly to determine ways to intensify the work-to-rule campaign.

In a telegram received by Mr. Brown Monday, the provincial executive ordered the intensification.
"Your executive is of the opinion that in view of denial of bargaining rights, mediation service and arbitration, and the right to strike, the union has no alternative but to continue and intensify the work-to-rule program," the telegram reads.
Meanwhile, the association has told members if they have trouble deciding what to do to slow procedures locally, they should consider safety.
Ed O'Connor, general secretary, said workers had been told to look at the safety handbook prepared by the Workmen's Compensation Board, which apparently provides opportunities to find ways of slowing work.

Air Crash Kills 11

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP) — For the second time in two weeks, an Allegheny Airlines propeller crashed in bad weather while trying to land at the airport here.
Eleven persons were killed. Seventeen others, most of them left hanging from their seatbelts when the Convair 580 flipped upside down Monday night, crashed to safety on a snow-swept golf course.
A 10-man investigating team from the National Transportation Safety Board, concerned about the "amazing similarities" of the two accidents, went to work today to find out what happened.
A similar team has been investigating the Christmas Eve crash of an Allegheny flight, which killed 47 persons aboard.

SOME PROJECTS SUCCEED

You Can't Win 'Em All, Says Mayor

Kelowna moved ahead in some areas during 1968, but didn't in others, Mayor R. F. Parkinson said Monday.
In his inaugural address to the council, the mayor touched on the city's plans and projects in the city, some of which were ahead, a few of which crumbled or stood still.
Entering his 12th year as Kelowna's mayor, Mr. Parkinson referred to "great strides" made during the past decade in these areas: the Okanagan-Similkameen Tourist Association, the Okanagan Regional Industrial Development Council, Ski for Three, the Okanagan

TRAIN DERAILED

Fiery Spout Of Gas Cuts Road at Chase

CHASE, B.C. (CP) — A wall of flames sometimes shooting as high as 80 feet into the sky continued to block the Trans-Canada highway near this community 180 miles northeast of Vancouver today following the 20-car derailment of a Canadian Pacific Railways freight train Monday afternoon.
Police and emergency crews kept spectators back a quarter of a mile from the site where the 20 cars of a 64-car train plunged down a wooded, 100-foot embankment, leaving the hillside littered with cars and depositing a flaming tank car loaded with propane on the highway.
A second propane tank car that wedged in a rock cut above the highway ruptured hours after the derailment and flames were spotted beneath the car.
Traffic on the highway was rerouted over an 80-mile detour from Monte Creek junction and Salmon Arm through Vernon and RCMP officials said the detour could remain in effect at least until tonight.

Salmon Arm and hydro crews were keeping a close watch on the situation.
A CPR spokesman said there were no injuries in the accident and its cause was not immediately known. He added there would be no delay today in passenger service because Canadian Pacific trains were switched onto Canadian National tracks.

Demonstrators 'Wonderful' Says Trudeau In London

LONDON (CP) — Singing and shouting, hundreds of demonstrators greeted arrivals at the 17th Commonwealth prime ministers conference got under way today. They carried such contradictory signs as "Keep Rhodesia White" and "Black Rule for Rhodesia."
Prime Minister Trudeau, arriving in a limousine, said he thought the demonstrators were "just wonderful" but the placards were so jumbled up he couldn't make them all out.
"There are so many people ideologically involved and representing so many ideas that it's a great thing for the Commonwealth," he said as he entered Marlborough House along with other prime ministers and presidents.
Police stood shoulder to shoulder around the home of the late Queen Mary while Prime Minister Wilson opened the meeting.
Several heads of government including Trudeau were caught in a traffic jam around the demonstrators. Trudeau got out of his limousine and walked through the police cordons.

"I was fed up with waiting," said the prime minister, who made headlines again by squaring another unattached beauty to a London night spot Monday night, his second "date" in three days.
The demonstrators were orderly and though large numbers of police were required they had no difficulty controlling the crowds.
"Only in London can you see this," said Trudeau.
"This is a communication. These people have ideas to get across and this is the city to do it in."
A total of 28 delegation leaders—24 prime ministers and presidents and four lesser figures—are participating in the nine-day Commonwealth conference, the largest of its kind.

Royal Treatment At Palace

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau gets his first taste of royal entertaining in the grand manner tonight when he attends a glittering state banquet at Buckingham Palace along with other visiting Commonwealth leaders.
One of his dinner companions will be 18-year-old Princess Anne, who left her Kent boarding school in the fall and has been taking a crash course in French.
The Royal Family will be in force for the occasion—17 members in all, including 85-year-old Princess Alice, whose late husband, the Earl of Athlone, was a governor-general of Canada, and Earl Mountbatten of Burma, the Queen's uncle.

Seating in the red, white and gold state dining room, lined with portraits of bygone kings and queens, is arranged in order of seniority at 10 circular tables, with different members of the Royal Family at each.
TRUDEAU LOW ON LIST
Because Trudeau is a "new boy" among Commonwealth leaders, he gets relatively low billing in the seating order. He will sit between Princess Anne and Mary Wilson, the shy, poet-try-love wife of Britain's prime minister.
Among his fellow guests at the table will be Prince William of Gloucester and the prime ministers of Singapore and Trinidad and Tobago.

Million Rebel Czech Workers Show No Signs Of Retreating

PRAGUE (Reuters) — A million workers threatening to strike in support of leading Czech reformer Josef Smrkovsky showed no signs of backing down today despite reports, officially denied, that Russian troops and tanks were guarding factories.
Reformist hopes of retaining Smrkovsky in one of the four top posts in Czechoslovakia appeared to have been dealt a death blow Monday night after the Czech bureau of the Communist party came out against appointing him president of the new federal parliament.

Record Budget Would Reflect Four-Per-Cent Rise Over '68

A record budget has been forecast for Kelowna this year, accompanied by an almost certain mill rate increase.
The budget, calling for balanced revenue and expenditures of $6,618,500, was presented to the council Monday night by city comptroller D. B. Herbert, reflecting a four-per-cent increase from the 1968 figure of $6,352,946.
The budget is provisional, to look after city spending between Jan. 1 and May 15, by which date the actual budget must be brought down.

Mr. Herbert said more money would be needed this year for wages and he expected school costs to rise. City taxpayers will also have to pay a greater portion this year of Kelowna General Hospital construction costs, but in this area Mr. Herbert had good news.

NEWCOMERS HELP
The city's share last year was $35,000 and the entire project was originally expected to cost city taxpayers four or five mills. But Mr. Herbert said, an influx of new taxpayers into Kelowna would probably reduce this tax factor to three to three and a half mills.
Based on 1968 figures, the provisional budget showed revenue and expenditures identical at $6,618,500 and although this should be fairly close to the mid-May final budget, the mill rate for general and school purposes won't be set until the 1969 city council completes detailed department estimates.

Word on any mill rate increase will have to wait until May, but Mr. Herbert projected a two-mill increase into his figures for general purposes. Ratepayers could also face a further mill rate boost for school purposes, but this will not be known until the board of school district 23 (Kelowna) makes its needs known to the city.

Largest Amount For Schools

Based on last year's figures, the largest single revenue figure would be $1,400,000 for schools, money which the city collects and turns over directly to the school board.
Next in line, with all figures based on last year, is revenue of $1,360,000 from general purposes taxation. Other provisional revenue amounts are: $200,000 from special assessments, $75,000 from the hospital levy, $110,000 from licences and permits, $135,000 from rents, concessions and franchises, $75,000 from fines, $27,000 from interest and tax penalties, $80,000 from service charges, $150,000 from recreation and community services and $300,500 from contributions, grants and subsidies.
The sale of light and power would bring in $1,452,000 based on 1968 figures, with $480,000 from the water supply system and $90,000 from the Kelowna Airport.

In keeping with city policy there is no money transferred from general revenue fund surplus, from reserves or short-term capital borrowing.

On the expenditure side, the biggest amount is the $1,400,000 for school purposes, followed by $1,075,000 for electricity, which the city buys from the West Kootenay Power and Light Company and retails to city customers.

Other provisional expenditures listed were: general government $253,000; protection to people and property (including the RCMP) $500,000; public works $450,000; sanitation and waste removal $200,000; health $12,000; social welfare $685,000; recreation and community services $565,000; debt charges $303,500; the water supply system $485,000; and the Kelowna Airport $65,000.

Other amounts, all $120,000 or less, go for such things as appropriation for reserves, contingencies and provision for allowances and capital expenditures such as land, $45,000; buildings, $15,000; engineering structures, $120,000 and machinery and equipment, $110,000.

Shot Boy Better

Scott Roche, an eight-year-old Kelowna boy shot last Wednesday at a New Year's gathering in a Langley home is in "fair to satisfactory" condition in Langley Memorial Hospital.
A hospital spokesman said the youth, suffering from a .303 rifle bullet wound in the abdomen, was up and walking. Doctors earlier were unable to remove particles of the bullet, fired at close range into the boy's stomach.

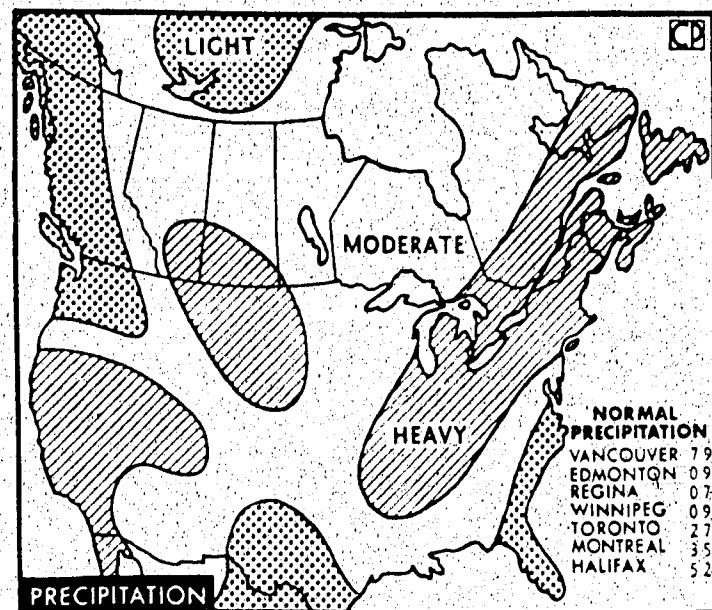

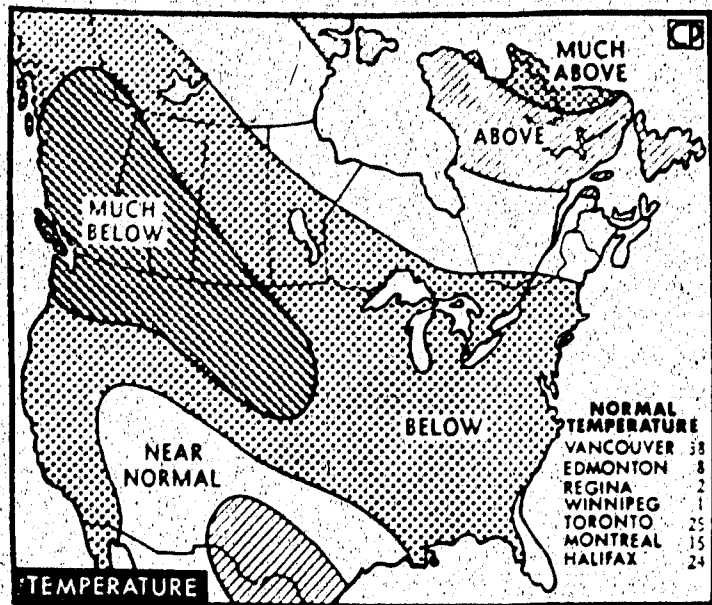

More Cold Heads Here

VANCOUVER (CP) — Southern British Columbia faces the prospect of another cold snap, but it will be mild compared with the deep freeze which gripped the entire province in late December, the weather office said today.

Temperatures are expected to drop to 28 degrees at Vancouver International Airport tonight as a mass of Arctic air enters P.C. from the Yukon.

The Arctic front is pushing slowly southward through the Prince George district, giving lower temperatures and some snowbursts. A similar weather pattern will persist through Wednesday with lowering temperatures in the Interior.
The overnight low forecast for Vancouver is 28 while Victoria is expected to be 33 degrees.

WEATHER FORECAST

The United States weather bureau in its 30-day weather outlook released Monday, predicts below-average temperatures for most of Canada, although northern Ontario and Quebec will have near-normal temperatures. British Columbia and southern portions of Alberta and Saskatchewan will experience very low temperatures. The outlook calls for moderate precipitation over most of the country with heavy precipitation over Quebec and the Maritimes. (CP Newsmag)

'New-Look' Kelowna Regatta Explained Before Council

An explanation of the "new-look" Kelowna International Regatta was given to the Kelowna city council Monday night. Regatta director general R. A. Gunoff spoke to council members and explained the famous water show's new administration system which is designed to get more people participating in the Regatta, both before and during the show.

He thanked the city for co-operation in the past and urged that the same co-operation continue. Mayor R. F. Parkinson and Ald. Alan Moss were appointed the city's representatives to the Regatta association.

Mr. Gunoff suggested the city send someone to a float workshop in Spokane in March and said both the Regatta and the Penticton Peach Festival have become members in the Pacific Northwest Festival Association, a group designed to co-ordinate festival operations.

He was told there was $3,500 in the city budget last year for the float and its transportation.

Mentioning some of the 1969 Regatta association's ideas for this year's Regatta, Mr. Gunoff said his group would like to block off Bernard Avenue from Water Street to Abbott Street for the four days of the Regatta. He said earlier the two-block area would act as a "gateway to the Regatta" with street dancing and other attractions, possibly operated through a joint effort of several city service clubs.

The Community Theatre could be used for entertainment as well as City Park facilities; block parties could be organized in various city residential areas and a water parade could be held on Okanagan Lake on the Saturday of Regatta.

Mr. Gunoff said the Regatta association's next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the council chamber.

Ald. R. J. Wilkinson wished the Regatta success and said "you are finally on the right track."

Ald. Hilbert Roth was glad to see Regatta operations in full swing early in the year.

Stock Prices Take Fall

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Prices fell on North American stock markets Monday in New York's sharpest loss in 18 months and Toronto's biggest drop since February. The losses caught brokers and investors by surprise.

Stock values on the New York exchange decreased by an estimated $10,000,000,000, with the Dow-Jones industrial average falling 15.23 points to 936.66. This was the worst drop since it fell 15.54 points on June 5, 1967, at the outbreak of the Arab-Israeli war.

The Toronto market began the day with an advance but the trend turned sharply downward in early afternoon in response to the New York slide.

Stock values declined by about $1,520,000,000 on the Toronto Stock Exchange. The Toronto industrial index fell 2.21 points to 188.57, its biggest loss since it declined 2.81 points Feb. 8.

New York analysts said the selling seemed to be coming mainly from private investors rather than institutions and accelerated once prices started sinking.

Tighter credit, higher interest rates in recent weeks, and fear of further restraints on the economy may have been contributing factors, with uncertainty over new United States administration policies on inflation and the Vietnam peace talks.

Volume on the New York exchange was 12,720,000 shares, down from 12,750,000 Friday.

Nixon Picks U.K. Envoy

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Nixon is expected to name millionaire publisher Walter Annenberg to be ambassador to Britain, one of the major diplomatic assignments.

Nixon aides, in keeping with the usual practice, declined to comment publicly on the matter. However, one said he did not anticipate announcement of any ambassadorial nominations until after Nixon is inaugurated Jan. 20.

Annenberg is owner and publisher of the Philadelphia Inquirer and a number of other publications. David K. E. Bruce has been ambassador to Britain for nearly eight years—since the start of the Kennedy administration.

The Community Theatre could be used for entertainment as well as City Park facilities; block parties could be organized in various city residential areas and a water parade could be held on Okanagan Lake on the Saturday of Regatta.

Mr. Gunoff said the Regatta association's next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the council chamber.

Ald. R. J. Wilkinson wished the Regatta success and said "you are finally on the right track."

Ald. Hilbert Roth was glad to see Regatta operations in full swing early in the year.

Asbestos Corporation common shares closed on Jan. 3 at $25.78 on the Montreal Stock Exchange and $25.50 on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Bank President Has A Warning

TORONTO — Canada's failure to maintain reasonable price stability is a major problem according to Allen T. Lambert, president of the Toronto-Dominion Bank. In addressing shareholders at the bank's annual meeting today he warned that if steps are not taken to contain inflation it will "jeopardize many of the gains we have striven so long to achieve."

Mr. Lambert described the progress in the 1960s as most impressive by almost every measurement. "Gains in our ability to compete in world markets as measured by the success of our export efforts, improvements in our educational, social and welfare benefits and the increase in our standard of living are all evidence of a decade of considerable accomplishment."

Montreal Bomb 'Not A Big One'

MONTREAL (CP) — This city's first bombing of 1969, at a secondary school in west-end Notre-Dame-de-Grace, Monday night, was caused by "a very small charge," police said.

Sgt. Robert Cote, head of a 6,000 Montreal police squad, said the explosion at the Ecole Secondaire St. Luc at about 5:28 p.m. caused some superficial damage to an outside wall of the school and smashed 10 windows.

The bomb exploded while about 500 evening class students were taking language courses at the French-language Roman Catholic school.

The MP added he had told the Doukhobites the immigration department is waiting for Sorokin, who has lived in Uruguay since 1952, to make application.

Kelowna's three new aldermen have quickly been put to work.

Aldermen Alan Moss, M. J. Peters and Richard Stewart were sworn in Monday afternoon and appeared immediately on the 1969 list of council duties.

Under Kelowna's civic government set-up, each alderman has certain areas of responsibility, with a deputy to act if he is unavailable. Following are the appointments as posted Monday:

Europe, N. America 'Pushed Apart'

MIAMI (AP) — Scientists aboard a deep-ocean drilling ship report finding conclusive evidence the Atlantic Ocean floor is spreading and pushing Europe and North America farther apart.

They said giant, mysterious "convective cell" movement within the earth is forcing semi-molten material to the ocean bottom along the mid-Atlantic mountain range, thus spreading the continents.

Dr. Robert Dietz of environmental science services administration laboratory at Miami, who pioneered the continental drift theory 10 years ago, said that by 1990 the continents will be a foot farther apart.

The scientists said drillings by the ship Glomar Challenger showed new ocean crust continuously forms in mid-Atlantic and spreads toward the continents "like a giant conveyor belt."

Progress, Hopes, Suggestions Voiced By Kelowna Council Members

"I've been a pretty busy man."

That's how Ald. Hilbert Roth Monday described his first term of office with the city, as he read into the minutes a lengthy report of the past year's activities of his health and welfare committee.

Ald. Roth spoke for all council members in this comment, as each summed up the work of their respective committees at the council's inaugural meeting Monday afternoon.

In spite of a "hold-the-line" policy of council, the city spent more, built more, provided more services and planned more new ones in 1968 than during the previous year. This was the general content of all six aldermen in their reports.

Speaking for the finance and administration department, retiring Ald. D. A. Chapman said the city's 1968 budget was $706,000 higher than the previous year's spending. Passed May 13, 1968, the budget totalled $6,352,947, the highest in the city's history.

An increase of 1.4 mills in tax assessment helped make up the revenue needed, Ald. Chapman told the inaugural meeting.

Largest portion of the direct taxation revenues went as usual, to school costs, he said, in the amount of $1,352,894. The city's wages accounted for 22 per cent of the budget, or $1,425,000. Total operating expenses for the year were $3,782,777.

He termed the city's past year was "one of progress in spite of the hold-the-line policy adopted by the municipal council with respect to the budget."

Ald. E. R. Winter made a relatively mild statement about the 41-day strike of the city's employees in his remarks on the salary and wage negotiating committee. He stressed the city's continuing view that employees can expect wage and salary gains comparable to those of private industry in the area. The Canadian Union of Public Employees was bargaining for parity with industry wages on the coast.

As the city's representative on the Kelowna General Hospital board, Ald. D. A. Chapman said the hospital's capacity to admit in-patients has reached a point where any easing of the present strain on the facilities

"cannot be expected until the hospital completes its expansion and renovation program."

He named September, 1970, as a probable date when renovations will be at a point of easing the bed shortage at the hospital.

The hospital, he said, continues to be in a deficit position, a fact that is causing trustees much concern.

Ald. Chapman ended his report with "I sincerely hope that one day I will be back."

Ald. R. J. Wilkinson, chairman of planning, reported on "many significant developments" in 1968. The city's first official zoning map was drawn up and circulated among realtors and businessmen.

The city's plans to improve sections of Glenmore Street, Harvey Avenue, Pandosy Street and Richter Street (and several others) were continued, with new building lines established, Ald. Wilkinson said.

The council is "very pleased" with the co-operation gained from property owners in the areas involved.

New zoning areas were established in the city's continuing policy to produce high standards of city development and understanding by residents, he said.

Ald. Wilkinson pointed out a remark at Eugene Pecka, a Dr. Knox Secondary School student, leading student demands for improved safety measures around schools. Under current major planning projects, he listed "final resolution of the Glenmore by-pass and Birch Road traffic problem," and added "Mr. Pecka's" the youth was in the audience.

He predicted a strong role for the Central Okanagan Regional District, which is in effect a large municipality in all the responsibilities and authority involved.

"It is quite within the regional concept that all major servicing will come under a regional authority," he said, and added the regional district "depends entirely on the men who guide it."

The advisory planning commission, which Ald. Wilkinson called a bridge between the council and the public, "has a little more soul-searching to do" about its terms of reference, aims and objectives.

The Kelowna Centennial Museum, he said, "is good to be commended on a year."

operated within budget, and has put a little aside for future purposes. Attendance was up in 1968 by about 3,000 from the previous year.

Figures on public works were provided by retiring Ald. Thomas Angus. He listed 10,225 lineal feet of sidewalk curbs, gutter and boulevard curb laid in 1968 at a cost of $35,074. About $10,000 of this cost was recovered from private sources, he said.

In the waterworks department, a total of 7,582 feet of water main was installed by city crews.

"It is significant to note," Ald. Angus said, "that no sprinkling regulations were required during the summer and even though the maximum daily water consumption increased from 7,000,000 gallons in 1967 to almost 10,000,000 gallons in 1968, no reports of low water pressure were received from any part of the city."

This he attributed to moving into operation a number of new water supply facilities built in recent years.

A total of $1,805 feet of roads and lanes were improved, paved or primed during the year, he reported. Pandosy Street, between Harvey Avenue and Raymer Avenue, is still under study for a reconstruction program, partly paid for by the provincial government. "The work should be completed in the next few years," he said.

Filing a report from the health and welfare committee, Ald. Roth told of his continuing war on "drifters and ne'er do wells" who wander into the Valley and use taxpayers' money for welfare.

The municipalities, he said, pay about 30 per cent of welfare costs. He said the council's "hard-line" policy on social assistance to transients resulted in direct aid to fewer transients in 1968 than in the previous year, even though there were more of them in the Okanagan this year. The welfare department handled 1,370 transients in 1968.

"I sincerely hope the senior government can be brought to realize that the individual municipalities in the Okanagan are not equipped to cope with the transient situation effectively and that taxpayers in our area should not have to bear the additional financial burden," he added.

The South Okanagan Union Board of Health, at the fore of recent battles about pollution of Okanagan Lake, spent a "very busy, productive and sometimes controversial year," Ald. Roth said.

Ald. Roth said he mentioned two briefs to the provincial government, both urging a halt to all further pollution of Okanagan lakes and rivers, as one of the board's activities.

Project OGO, which involved 3,500 tests of public health aspects of the water in Skaha Lake, was another activity in which the board took part.

Ald. Roth also reported on the David Lloyd-Jones Home ("a success both socially and financially"), the Kelowna and District Search and Rescue Unit, the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce visitor and convention committee (34 conventions during 1968), the Society for Retarded Children (which must be expanded, he claims), and the local civil defence organization.

Speaking for the city's traffic commission was chairman Ald. Winter, who stressed downtown parking development as a major area of concern for council both last year and during the coming years.

After outlining present parking facilities, Ald. Winter advocated construction of a multi-storey parking structure to be built on the "Chapman-Carter Motors" parking lot locations, adjacent to the fire hall. The building, he said, would be put up "at little or no expense to taxpayers," because revenue provided by it and revenue from other parking facilities in town would cover the capital expenditure.

The 14-member RCMP detachment in the city is popping out at the seams at its Doyle Avenue headquarters. With office staff doubled in the past year, the detachment may need a second storey on its administration building, Ald. Winter said. The Mounties investigated 40 per cent more complaints this year than in 1967, he said, and collected 18 per cent more fines—totaling $57,288.

Destruction by fire in the city took a "sharp decline" during 1968, Ald. Winter explained. Total damage was about $64,000, he said, or $3.55 per capita. He added council will have to look into a new centrally-located hall for the Kelowna Fire Brigade.

Kelowna used more electricity than ever, about 80,000,000 kilowatt hours, a report by Ald. J. W. Bedford told the meeting. The chairman of the electrical department was unable to attend the inaugural ceremonies and his report was read by the city clerk.

The power was purchased from West Kootenay Power and Light Company for $607,000. During the year, 273 new services were hooked into the city's system.

A major project undertaken by the electrical department in 1968 was the conversion of the 7,200 volt distribution system to 13,000 volts. This involved considerable re-wiring and conversion from overhead lines to underground cable, about 6,000 feet of which was laid.

Ald. Bedford's report also said the Kelowna and District Memorial Arena had a successful year, with nearly 250,000 people passing through the doors and the "widest-ever" calendar of events.

The records for the year, Ald. Bedford's report said, would have been even better, except for the interruption of service during the six-week strike of city workers. However, "no real disappointments" were suffered from the strike.

The arena, he said, apparently operated within the budget provided by council.

Zoning Changes To Be Discussed

Several zoning matters will be discussed at a special Kelowna city council meeting at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 20.

Most deal with proposed land zone changes to permit business expansion or development, but some deal with lot sizes and the number of boarders or lodgers permitted in certain dwellings.

Listed in the order in which they will be discussed Jan. 20 are the proposed amendments to the city zoning bylaw deal with: Rezoning a vacant lot at 2087 Richter St. from local commercial to single and two-family residential. The land is located in a residential area and the change would be made to keep the entire area residential. If adjoining lots were sold and consolidated into one parcel the council would consider a development proposal, if acceptable.

To re-zone 2.5 acres in the Lombardy Park area from single and two-family residential to garden apartment, multi-family residential.

The property has access from the east end of Lawson Avenue and does not front on Bernard Avenue, Richmond Street or Bankhead Crescent, but these streets surround the land. A developer intends to build two, two-storey apartments, each containing 12 one-bedroom units and eight two-bedroom units, for a total of 40 units.

To re-zone property at 1506 Harvey Avenue from single and two-family residential to gasoline service station to permit expansion of the Kelowna Esso Service.

To re-zone land on the southwest corner of Glenmore Street and Bernard Avenue from local commercial to service commercial to permit changes to the Mervyn's BA service station.

To amend appropriate sections of the zoning bylaw to allow self-owned attached dwelling units as a special use in the zone. This amendment is designed to provide for self-owned attached, or row-housing accommodation, with all of the resulting economies of cost and savings in land coverage. Special conditions will be required to be met by owners or developers before a special use certificate is issued.

To amend various sections of the city's zoning bylaw to delete the uses of public school, private school (including kindergarten) hospital, senior citizens' boarding home, church and lodge from all residential zones as these are permitted in the new public and institutional zones. City planning director Greg Stevens said this would not involve any great changes, but simply would see the bylaw re-worded, with the various uses still permitted.

To amend certain bylaw sections to reduce the number of paying guests (boarders or lodgers) per dwelling unit in the case of two-family dwellings from three paying guests to two.

To amend certain sections of the bylaw to reduce the front yard requirement in the multi-family residential zones from 30 feet to 25 feet and to increase the rear yard requirements in the same zone to 15 feet from 12 feet where the lot is served by a lane and to 25 feet from 22 feet where there is no lane. Mr. Stevens said these changes are needed to permit better development of rear areas for parking.

Any ratepayers requiring more information, or explanations of any bylaw details, can obtain help from the city clerk during regular city hall hours.

SEEN and HEARD

The second robin of the season has turned up, in Okanagan Mission time. The red-breasted bird was seen today near the mouth of Mission Creek, foraging in some grass cleared by overnight winds. His objective, naturally, the worm the early bird is supposed to get.

At about 9:45 a.m. today the traffic light at the intersection of Water Street and Bernard Avenue was out of commission. As usual one of the city police constables came to the rescue. With red light flashing at his motor scooter and arms waving, he did an able job of relieving the traffic hazard caused by the "inconsiderate" light.

The day of the power togoogan has come to Knox Mountain Park. In previous years when the snow came, that was it. The city sealed the road and silence descended. This year power togoogers have discovered that the park's roads and hikers' trails make excellent unrestricted routes for their fun. The caterpillar tracks are everywhere, even right at the top of the main road. The tracks blaze a trail for the few remaining stalwart hikers, who find the going easier on the hard-packed snow. So the park joins in the four-season playground theme.

A Kelowna woman, Vera Would, has an opportunity to win $100,000. Mrs. Would was one of the 153 people drawn in the voluntary tax draw in Montreal and one of nine who are residents of British Columbia. Mrs. Would also has a chance to win one of the lesser prizes, ranging from $100 to $100,000. A total of $165,000 in silver ingots is at stake. Winners receive cash immediately in lieu of silver. The scheme was begun last May by Mayor Jean Drapreau to offset a $28,000,000 budgetary deficit faced by Montreal in 1968.

PREPARING TO SERVE KELOWNA

Kelowna's "new-look" city council received its three new members Monday afternoon in an impressive ceremony. Taking the oath of allegiance, from the left, were: Ald. Alan Moss, Ald. Richard Stewart and Ald. M. J. Peters. In the foreground is Magistrate D. M. White, who administered the oaths. In the background is Rev. E. W. Scott, Anglican Bishop of Kootenay, who offered the blessing. The election of three new aldermen and the absence of the three former aldermen is thought to be the first time in Kelowna's history that all three seats were filled by rookie aldermen. The terms of the incoming aldermen run two years, with terms expiring this December for Mayor R. F. Parkinson, Ald. Hilbert Roth, Ald. R. J. Wilkinson and Ald. E. R. Winter. —(Courier Photo)

COUNCIL AT WORK

One-Way Traffic Backed For Pandosy And Richter

A suggestion for one-way traffic along Pandosy and Richter streets appears to be gaining favor with the Kelowna city council. The suggestion has been made several times by Ald. E. R. Winter, the city's traffic expert, but Monday night his proposal received its strongest support to date.

Mayor R. F. Parkinson, referring to city plans to widen Pandosy Street, said one-way streets would ease the cost of having to buy land for widening. Ald. Winter suggested trying a one-way system, south-bound along Pandosy and north-bound on Richter, for four or five months, starting in April or May.

Ald. Alan Moss said there was no harm in trying the idea, but he considers downtown parking a more serious matter. Ald. Winter agreed, suggesting more restricted parking, designed to stop people from parking all day on streets ringing the downtown shopping area.

An early meeting will be held to discuss co-operation on area garbage disposal between the City of Kelowna and the Central Okanagan Regional District. The city's works committee and the board of directors of the regional district will discuss recent proposals that a joint disposal area be developed for residents of the entire Central Okanagan. After a strong feeling was the reports were useful and should be continued. Mayor Parkinson suggested a short report for the meeting, followed by a longer, more detailed report for publication.

Ald. Stewart thought the reports should stay as is, with each alderman given 10 minutes to cover the activities of his various departments and he received agreement from Ald. Winter, Ald. R. J. Wilkinson and Ald. E. R. Winter. Ald. Moss said the reports might be tedious for some people, but offered a good opportunity for elected aldermen to report to the people. Ald. M. J. Peters said the facts in the reports were good, but comparisons with previous years would be useful and the reports should contain personal suggestions.

businesses from their homes. Answering a question from Mayor Parkinson, Mr. Conn said there was not yet enough control of such businesses. He said some such businesses were not a problem and part of the trouble is not enough rental space for people who would like to move their operations out of their homes. He said complaints are checked, but "we'll just have to live with the situation until there is more rental space."

Final approval was given two bylaws to advance the city tax payment deadline and increase the interest rate for pre-paid taxes. The deadline is now July 31, compared with the previous Oct. 21 date and the interest rate has increased to six per cent from five per cent for all payments made before June 30. A penalty of five per cent will be assessed on unpaid taxes on Aug. 1 and another five per cent Sept. 1. The old rate was a straight 10 per cent after taxes were due.

Following another lengthy inaugural meeting, Mayor Parkinson asked the council for opinions about lengthy reports presented by each alderman to the annual inaugural meetings. He was obviously seeking opinions about possibly shortening the meetings, but the general feeling was the reports were useful and should be continued. Mayor Parkinson suggested a short report for the meeting, followed by a longer, more detailed report for publication.

Ald. Stewart thought the reports should stay as is, with each alderman given 10 minutes to cover the activities of his various departments and he received agreement from Ald. Winter, Ald. R. J. Big News Due About Airport

Important news about Kelowna's Airport is expected this year by Mayor R. F. Parkinson.

The mayor said Monday afternoon's inaugural council meeting, read a letter to J. W. Pickersgill, chairman of the Okanagan Transport Commission and Mr. Pickersgill's reply. Optimism about future expansion at the airport, including more scheduled flights, was referred to by the mayor.

In his letter Mayor Parkinson said:

"Rumors and suggestions are being circulated of a possible early announcement by your board in connection with major changes in carrier service in the Interior of B.C., during early part 1969. Naturally we are most interested as we require better air service in and out of Kelowna as our traffic figures dramatically show. Our inaugural meeting of the 1969 city council is Jan. 6 and I commence my 12th year as mayor of Kelowna. Is there any possibility a decision will be announced by that time, if so, I will give details."

Mr. Pickersgill didn't provide the requested information in time for the inaugural meeting, but said in a telegram: "The Canadian Transport Commission is actively considering an application for improved air service to the Interior of British Columbia including Kelowna. I regret a decision cannot be reached in time to announce on Jan. 6, but you can assure the inaugural meeting of the 1969 city council that the city can be optimistic. Congratulations on your election for your 12th year as mayor (Mayor Parkinson has another year to run on his current term and was returned by acclamation in 1967) of Kelowna and all good wishes for the future of the city, which honored me as the commodore of its world-famous Regatta a few years ago."

In his inaugural address, Mayor Parkinson said he felt a favorable decision from Ottawa would "mean at least three flights daily each way, including a link with Kamloops and other northern areas."

The new airport terminal complex was opened Oct. 28 by Transport Minister Paul Hellyer. Mayor Parkinson said negotiations would be completed this year to arrive at the city's share of building and related facilities costs. He said the city has a strong case in view of greatly accelerated traffic figures to get Kelowna's share down close to the $220,000 amount approved by taxpayers.

After Lengthy Silent Period City Band To Be Heard Again

The rejuvenated Kelowna City Band will hold its first rehearsal today at 7:30 p.m. in the Kelowna Secondary band room.

After a successful drive for new members and a possible success in the question of a grant from city council, the band is ready to strike up again.

The band disbanded in 1964 because of a lack of interest and financial support. Since then, one aspect has been revived. The band now has 25 new members and 40 to 50 members are expected. However, on the other hand, the city council has given no definite answer to whether or not it will give the band a $3,000 grant.

Westbank Motorist Fined $400 After Crashing Into Lift Bridge

A motorist who crashed through the barrier at the Okanagan Lake bridge and ran into the span as it was rising was fined $400 in magistrate's court today.

Fred Heinzlmann, Westbank was still wearing a cast on his arm today, nearly a month after the accident. He told the court he could not remember the day of the accident. Magistrate D. M. White also suspended the man's driving licence for six months. The charge was driving without due care and attention.

Traffic charges dominated the lengthy docket today. Convicted were Anne Chamberlin, Kelowna, $35 for failing to confine a vehicle to the left side of the road while making a turn; Wesley Koen, Kelowna, $40 for speeding; Dell Reimer, Kelowna, $40 for speeding; George Fosbery, Rutland, $40 for speeding; Bente Nielson, Kelowna, $50 for failing to stop at a stop sign; Doreen Carnegie, Rutland, $50 for failing to yield the right-of-way while turning; and Edetrant Stuerle, $75 for disobeying a traffic signal light.

Augustine Sebastian, Kelowna, pleaded not guilty to failing to yield the right-of-way and was remanded to Jan. 21 for trial. A remand without plea to Jan. 22 was granted to David Sollosy, Rutland, charged with driving without due care and attention and driving without insurance while a minor.

New Snow Hits Highways

Highway 97 in the Kelowna area had two to four inches of new snow in the department of highways road report of 7:30 a.m. today.

Plowing and sanding was in progress.

All roads in the Central Okanagan and surrounding area reported new snowfalls. Plowing and sanding was in progress on all.

The Allison Pass had 14 inches of new snow. Plowing and sanding was in progress and winter tires were advised. Similar conditions existed on the Monashee Pass, which had eight inches of new snow; plowing and sanding was in progress. The Kelowna-Beaverdell road had six inches of new snow; plowing and sanding was in progress and winter tires required.

CAR BURNED
A car exploded and burned on Queensway Monday at 2:39 p.m. and Kelowna Fire Brigade officials are not sure of the cause of the fire. The brigade sent a truck to extinguish the blaze, which belongs to Lionel Moss, Brenda Mines. A brigade spokesman later said the car is damaged to a point where the cause could not be determined.

Photographer Club's Guest

A widely travelled photographer will be the Central Okanagan Naturalist Club's guest today.

William Gill will show his work and speak to the club at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the board room of the Kelowna branch of the Okanagan Regional Association.

Mr. Gill and his wife have travelled extensively through United States.

Great Powers Must Act In Middle East Solution

Recent events in the Middle East have indicated that the American, Russian, British and French governments are all alarmed at the prospect of more warfare in that area and are edging toward a concerted effort to stop it.

The Israeli attack on Beirut was extremely shortsighted as it has forced the Arab guerrillas and governments into each other's arms. More surprisingly, by the attack Israel seems to have forced the permanent members of the UN security council into a measure of agreement. Most of the world, including Israel's foremost friends, condemn the Beirut attack as unjustified—if only because it was worse than useless, likely to aggravate the problem it sought to solve.

There is going to be no suddenly imposed peace in the Middle East; and no immediate four-power conference either. But the message of the security council resolution is that neither Israel nor the Arabs can act as if they were conducting a private vendetta in a vacuum. Israel should treat the security council resolution seriously, if for no other reason than that she is particularly vulnerable to sanctions.

While there are those who argue that a distinction should be drawn between the acts of guerrillas—such as the attack on the airliner at Athens—and the acts of the armed forces of a state, there are also those who find it disgraceful that the British and American delegates to the security council did not insist on some parallel condemnation of systematic Arab terrorism. Those who hold this view declare that the Arabs, with Russian help, have made the various guerrilla organizations their main weapon against Israel.

It seems doubtful if the Russians really want a peaceful solution as their growing influence in the area depends almost entirely on the Arabs' desperate need for friends and arms. Yet, in spite of the difficulties, more direct action by the great powers needs to be attempted. The likely alternative is another war—which would solve nothing even for the Israelis if they won it. Having weighed the risks of withdrawal from the territory they took in the last war, the Israelis should now be encouraged to look again at the risks of not withdrawing. For the Arab governments, too, the risks of the present situation are growing. Extremists are likely to gain more ground, posing a more real threat to the existence of Arab governments than any which comes from Israel.

Any solution to the problem, it would seem, must provide new guarantees by the great powers—especially the United States—to reassure both sides. For the Israeli illusion that all Arabs are bent on their complete destruction is balanced by the Arab illusion that all Israelis are bent on expansion.

Help For Unwed Mothers

(Chatham News)

The rate of illegitimate births has increased to large proportion. Nearly 10 per cent of the birthrate is composed of illegitimate babies: 29,391 in 1967. Of these, 38 per cent were born to girls under the age of 20.

Compared to this, the legitimate birth rate decreased by 16,816 in the same year.

The authorities have taken many measures to help in this case by attempting to remove the stigma of illegitimate birth from an innocent child.

Many organizations also offer help and guidance to these unwed mothers.

The sanctimonious dismissal of these youngsters as "bad girls" is as antiquated as it is stupid and cruel.

Bad girls usually know how to keep out of trouble.

A visit to a home where such girls are sheltered until the birth of their baby will disclose the fact that many of the residents are what any one, under other circumstances would term really nice girls, well educated, refined, but glib.

About one third of these babies are adopted; the rest have to be placed in foster homes and the availability of these is not as great as it should be.

The parents of the unwed mothers, themselves are generally reluctant to take in their daughters with their unexpected grandchildren. Their means may not allow it, their neighbors and friends' remarks add to the difficulty.

Since often the father is neither able nor inclined to look after his own child there only remains one alternative that is to help the unwed mother look after her baby.

And that brings us to that persistent problem that keeps cropping up on our modern days: money.

There is no getting away from the fact that babies are required if we want to keep a reasonable age balance in our communities.

According to the figures available about 20,000 of these children will grow up in foster homes.

That sounds neither right, nor fair; in a Christian community, children should not be discarded like unwanted goods.

Huge Speculation Waves Battered Shores Of $ Canada

WASHINGTON (C.P.) — Massive waves of speculation battered the international money system in 1968, hitting at the United States and Canadian dollars and later the French franc.

More crises, and additional emergency band-aid measures to head off disaster, seemed assured for 1969.

The situation was a high-priority problem for incoming president Richard Nixon, on two counts: the need for a thorough overhaul of the monetary system used since 1944 and the task of cooling off pernicious inflation that has sapped confidence in the dollar itself as a backbone of the global monetary machine and eroded U.S. earning capacity abroad.

Most experts agreed on the need for a thorough new look, but not on the mechanism required.

Monetary difficulties remained emotionally linked with political considerations and national pride. That was demonstrated by the intransigence of the West Germans and the French in the November crisis.

The year had started somberly in the wake of Britain's devaluation of the pound Nov. 18, 1967, coupled with harsh austerity measures. But confidence in the pound remained shaky, although a year later Britain's exports had reached record levels and imports had been trimmed somewhat.

Jan. 1, the U.S. faced up to a new international payments deficit of $3,600,000,000 for 1967 by tightening its control program to mandatory measures, including restrictions on capital flows to Canada.

The Vietnam war, other overseas military commitments, declining trade surplus and continuing heavy tourist spending abroad remained the sources of the U.S. deficit.

In the ensuing weeks, speculation heightened that the U.S. would be forced to raise the price of gold, pegged at $35 U.S. an ounce since the mid-1930s.

The U.S. and its six partners in the so-called London gold pool were forced to commit monetary reserves to cope with a wild demand for gold.

Finally, the leading Western industrial nations worked out a two-tier system for gold. The official level in government dealings remained at $35. The unofficial or "free-market" value floated at a somewhat higher price, as demand dictated.

By March, Canada was caught in speculative pressure based on an assumption that cuts in normal supplies of U.S. lending capital would cause the Canadian dollar to be devalued from the level of 92.5 cents in American currency, held since May, 1962.

That onslaught ended when the U.S. agreed to remove restrictions on borrowings by Canadian companies, provinces and municipalities, a move that locked Canada even more firmly into the U.S. financial orbit.

New trouble started brewing in Europe when speculation took flight from the weak franc to the strong West German mark, pushing the value of the franc to the floor, the mark to the ceiling.

The Germans refused to revalue the mark upwards and the President de Gaulle rejected devaluation, terming it "the worst form of absurdity."

Instead, Germany applied braking measures to slow the inflow of speculative capital and joined others in pumping additional credits into the French economy.

It appeared that the rules of the International Monetary Fund formulated at the Bretton Woods, N.H., conference of 1944 and providing for rigidly-fixed exchange rates, would survive yet another while.

Hanging over the whole complex situation is the possibility that in the next monetary crisis a currency under attack may be cut loose from its parity and allowed to float in the free market.

This could, some experts say, result in a complete breakdown of international monetary co-operation.

NEWS ANALYSIS

So War In Vietnam Really Is Futile

By PHILIP DEANE
Foreign Affairs Analyst

The crux of the Vietnam negotiations, at this stage, is to find some way of convincing the Saigon government to negotiate itself out of existence; that is the meaning of repeated prodings by U.S. Defence Secretary Clark Clifford and of the latest statement by Senator George McGovern who says that if the South Vietnamese do not like what the U.S. proposes, they can leave Paris and fight for their country by themselves because America cannot keep half a million men in the field forever.

We were treated on the night of Dec. 17 to an exhibition of how the media can be used to advance the U.S. policy: The Columbia Broadcasting System put on a program on Vietnam in which the cold facts were given about everyone's position at the talks. The American people were told as plainly as can be that their government is not prepared to stay in South Vietnam indefinitely and that the South Vietnamese delegation in Paris is being told so.

Salmon is protesting that this U.S. attitude is a change from past firm promises that the U.S. will never abandon the South Vietnamese and the answer they get from Americans, to such protests is that by now, Saigon's government should be able to defend its own territory without much foreign help.

Officially, the CBS correspondence explained things in a way which suggest unmistakably to a journalist that they had been officially briefed. They insisted again and again that the U.S. views they were reporting were official views, the real U.S. position. During a recreation of conversations between American and South Vietnamese delegates, they had the American insisting on the formation of a broad based coalition government and on negotiations between Saigon and the National Liberation Front.

They also had Hanoi urge much the same thing upon the National Liberation Front in a recreation of talks between the two communist participants. This indicates that the U.S. and Hanoi have agreed largely on what the talks must produce: a broad coalition government for South Vietnam in which the Vietnamese will be included, elections and then U.S. withdrawal.

Giving their forecasts as to what all this will eventually produce, the CBS correspondents said that within five years at the latest, Saigon will be run by a government very friendly to Hanoi simply because the communist National Liberation Front is the strongest political organization in the South. This, said the correspondents, was clear to Saigon and that is why the Saigon government was resisting. Then, said the correspondents, there might be only one thing left to do: change the government of South Vietnam: America made it, America could unmake it.

So, after a vast expenditure of blood and treasure, the U.S. is being told that it was all futile, which is what friends of America have been saying all along.

Outpace U.S. Mills

Canadian productivity and wages in the woods products industry are close to U.S. levels, but have slightly higher labor costs. This comes from a Financial Post survey of the efficiency of our wood-goods makers, compared with those in the U.S. The survey says that Canadian sawmills and planing mills consistently outpaced U.S. mills in net output per worker, but in the production of veneer and plywoods productivity was about 20 per cent below the U.S. level. The Post reports that Canadian plants producing wooden boxes, crates and shipping containers have steadily improved their productivity relative to their counterparts in the U.S. But coffin-making in Canada is down in both productivity and wages. "Output per worker in Canadian firms manufacturing caskets and other morticians' supplies runs at little more than half the level of output in U.S. firms. The U.S. industry has a net output that is 22 times as great as the Canadian industry but employs only 12 times the Canadian work force."

She Has Haunting Fear No More Babies Coming

By DR. GEORGE THOSTESON

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
Since the birth of my first child several months ago I have been haunted by a fear that I would not be able to have any more children.

I'm sure it is an unreasonable fear as there is no physical reason for me not to have more children.

My pregnancy was perfect and so was the birth. I was happier while I was pregnant than at any other time in my life.

It is normal for a woman to have this kind of fear? At first I thought it might be just "after-birth blues" which I have read about, but it's been too long for that—Mrs. A.J.

No, this fear is not normal. And it has none of the signs of post-partum depression, a severe depression which occasionally follows childbirth (your "after-birth blues").

Rather, I would assume that you have wanted children for a long time, wanted them very much and have developed an anxiety neurosis, or worry that has become an obsession.

Time, and another baby, may set your fears at rest; however, that's rather indefinite consolation right now, isn't it?

I suggest that you talk this over with your physician or obstetrician, and if he can't help put an end to this worry, you may even need a session or two with a psychiatrist. Digging out the source of such emotional blockages as yours is one of the main ways in which modern psychiatry can be helpful.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 60. One gynecologist, after examining me, advises that I will soon need an operation for an enlarged prostate. Another doctor, a practicing MD, advises that he can delay operation, possibly many years, by massaging the prostate every couple of weeks.

This has been doing several months. I can tell no difference; he says he is keeping the prostate from getting larger. Is this massaging beneficial, or will I eventually need the prostate operation?—J.S.

Massage is one type of treatment, and if it succeeds in preventing further enlargement, fine! Sometimes it does.

But don't you see what you are doing? You are like a fellow considering a ticket to a ball game—and insisting on knowing in advance who's going to win before you buy the ticket.

Try the massage: if it keeps you in satisfactory condition, that solves your problem. If it doesn't, have the surgery.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What does adenocarcinoma of the uterus mean? Would one biopsy be enough to tell? Would this warrant cobalt treatment?—A.E.W.

"Adeno" refers to glandular structures and "carcinoma" means cancer. Hence adenocarcinoma of the uterus would be cancer originating in the glandular portion of the uterus.

LETTER TO EDITOR

APPEAL THANKED

Sir:
We would like to thank the United Appeal and all who worked on the 1968 campaign for the tremendous support given to the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society. With the help we receive from the United Appeal, and from all our volunteer workers, the services C.A.R.S. provide for the arthritis patient would not be nearly as extensive as they are.

The new Arthritis Centre in Vancouver opens officially in April, and our program for establishing a complete therapist service for arthritis patients in hospitals throughout British Columbia will take another step forward.

The need for C.A.R.S. volunteers to help in the 1969 United Appeal is great. Anyone who would like to become a C.A.R.S. volunteer is invited to write to us. We will then provide the address of our local branch.

Yours sincerely,
COLIN BEALE,
Public Information Officer.

CANADA'S STORY

Victoria Cross Awarded For Action In Canada

By BOB BOWMAN

The highest award for valor in the British Commonwealth is the Victoria Cross, instituted by Queen Victoria in 1856. The medal is made from the metal of guns captured in the Crimean War, and has been won by more than 100 Canadians, one-third of whom died during the action.

The first Canadian to win the Victoria Cross was Lieutenant A. R. Dunn of Toronto who served with the British army during the Crimean War. The second Canadian to be honored was Able Seaman William Hall, of Avonport, N.S., who took part in the relief of Lucknow during the Indian mutiny in 1857. He was the son of a former Negro slave, and was the first Negro, and the first Canadian sailor, to win the Victoria Cross.

The third award of a Victoria Cross to a Canadian was made posthumously to a Canadian soldier, O'Hara, on Jan. 7, 1867, for having saved a train from being blown up by Fenians. It was the first Victoria Cross awarded for an action in Canada, and also the first Victoria Cross awarded for a brave deed when the enemy was not actually present.

In 1866 O'Hara was awarded a Grand Thank from a town, 800 inhabitants. He was smoke coming from a freight car in which there was gunpowder being transported to the Lake Erie sector where the Fenians were expected to attack. O'Hara managed to put out the fire although he was liable to be blown to smithereens at any moment, and saved the lives of all the travellers.

The Fenians were members of an Irish revolutionary movement whose objective was to capture Canada, and then trade Canada back to Britain in return for Irish independence. They were mostly veterans of the American Civil War, and were financed by sympathizers in the U.S. They did make several raids on Canada, and their activities helped to bring about Confederation for mutual defence.

OTHER EVENTS ON JAN. 7: 1848: Lower Canada parliament session that provided night lights for Montreal and Quebec.

1859: Canadian silver coinage was used for the first time. 1905: Opening ceremonies of parliament were televised for the first time.

1963: Contracts were let to prevent Red River flooding. It was the largest civil moving in Canadian history. 1960: Antonio Barrette became Premier of Quebec.

MR. AND MRS. DARCY RUCK
(Rockcliffe Studio)

Oliver Newlyweds Reside In Rutland

An evening wedding on Dec. 28 in the Oliver Memorial Church united Mary Martha Rempel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Rempel, Oliver, and Darcy Byron Ruck, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Ruck, also of Oliver. The couple will make their home in Rutland following a wedding trip to southern points.

Rev. J. J. Klassen officiated at the ceremony and Ron Rempel, brother of the bride, also gave a short sermon.

The bride was charming in an empire-style full-length gown, featuring a Chantilly lace bodice with bell-shaped sleeves. The skirt of pearl elegance was trimmed with appliques of roses on the front panel and the crepe chiffon train was also outlined with appliques of roses. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

The bridesmaid, Linda Wiens, wore an aqua crepe gown in empire style, with lace bodice and carried a nosegay of white carnations in an aqua basket. The little flower girl, Evelyn Johnson, wore an identical costume.

Dane Ruck, brother of the groom was best man and ushers were Allan Redenbach and Leonard Skwarczynski.

For the reception at the Masonic Hall, the bride's mother wore a jade wool dress, complemented with a pink carnation corsage and the groom's mother was dressed in a gold wool crepe dress with lace bodice, accented with a corsage of yellow and gold carnations.

The bride's table was centered with the wedding cake, which was decorated with roses and doves. Bill Kreller was master of ceremonies.

ANN LANDERS Let Dad Carry Baby Mom Has Done Share

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been having the same tiresome argument for four years. It's time it was settled. Will you do it, please?

When a couple is out in public, who is supposed to carry the baby? My husband says a husband is supposed to carry packages and suitcases, but the woman is supposed to carry the kids.

Our little boy is almost four and the new baby is seven weeks old. It's very hard for me to hold the boy's hand when I have to carry the little girl. If my husband would help me out by carrying the baby, it would make life a lot easier. Will you please say something? —TIED.

Dear Tied: Nature has decreed that the woman is stuck for the first nine months. After that, her husband should be happy to carry the child.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 20-year-old boy who would like to respond to "Woodshed Father," the man who believes that most kids today need a crack in the mouth. He also thinks all psychiatrists are nuts, and that you, Ann Landers, are a meddling old hag.

Granted, my father never took any sass from his children, but he never took any love, respect, or affection from us either. And we had a lot to give.

I tried hard to be the kind of boy a father could be proud of, but I learned quite young that he wasn't interested in being a father. He never once called me "Son" or even by my name. It was always "Hey, you." I have no recollection that my father ever smiled at me, or held me on his lap. I can't recall that he ever touched me, except to crack me in the mouth. And for some mysterious reason those cracks in the mouth were always a surprise to me. I never knew when one was coming.

Perhaps, I shouldn't be too hard on my father. He taught me one thing, and for this I am grateful. I learned from him how NOT to raise children.

Please keep writing your column, Ann. Tell people what they ought to hear. Tell parents that kids need discipline and that they want it, but that they also need love and tenderness from both father and mother. Tell them there is a God at which they can turn when things don't end there, love will

Children's Wear Steals Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Growing girls may have to take a back seat to their little sisters in the fashion department this spring.

The children's wear collection which ended the Friday showing of the New York Couture Group was fresher, brighter and more exciting than the ho-hum adult clothes previewed earlier in the day.

Joseph Love featured clever styles for girls from about three to 12.

The Love collection included several floppy-sleeved untucked pants suits—old hat in the adult lines, but adding a new style touch to children's play clothes.

Love entitled its outfits such things as Space Rendezvous—a white, pleated voile dress with a black and yellow border stripe; Moon Shot—a pink voile dress with a low flounce and a lace-trimmed bib and cuffs; and Bubblegum—a bright yellow stretch short dress with white collar.

For the romantics, there were marching costumes called Julie Eisenhower and Jackie Onassis. The Julie outfit was for girls about 10; the Jackie costume for four-year-olds. The style included a pink bonded lace dress worn over pants and sashed and belted in pink ribbon. The commentator suggested the outfits as possible bridesmaids' wear.

Earlier Friday, the adults got their chance. Murray Newman, designing for Hannah Troy, featured "veteran" suits with thin belted lines over full skirts and contrasting blouse.

There were a few new touches in Neilman's evening wear. One costume featured a short yellow tulle skirt, a sheer, ruffled, pink bodice and a short, ruffled, pink skirt.

Trudeau Cools Romance Rumor By German Blonde

LONDON (CP) — Adoring looks from female autograph hunters; kind comments from journalists and a tall blonde who came to lunch introduced Londoners to Canada's "swinging" prime minister Sunday.

Pierre Elliott Trudeau was given traditional pop-star treatment as he arrived at normally-staid Canada House on Trafalgar Square for a Sunday news conference.

Awaiting him were starry-eyed girls pressing for his signature on everything from notebooks to cigarette packages.

The mass circulation Daily Express joined the fan club, telling its Monday morning readers that Trudeau brings to world politics "an informality and jaunty gusto which will suit the present age and his own bustling, adventurous country."

The blonde was Eva Rittinghausen, who says she and the handsome Canadian bachelor are in love. She spoke after a luncheon date with Trudeau at a Chelsea restaurant.

But the romance cooled considerably when Trudeau was asked to comment.

He said he had no plans to marry "this acquaintance" and suggested that anyone who talks out loud about such a social relationship could not be as good a friend as she makes out to be.

FREE TO MARRY

Mrs. Rittinghausen, quoted in The Daily Mail as saying she now is free to marry, said she was born in Canada and descended from a noble German family.

She said she met Trudeau at the home of the family of former prime minister St. Laurent last August and that it was "love at first sight."

Newspaper cartoonists had a field day with Trudeau's arrival.

A Daily Mail cartoonist, taking his cue from the nickname "Trendy Trudeau" launched by a Sunday journalist, used the figure of Canada's "swinging" prime minister for a pictorial slap at Britain's Harold Wilson.

Prime Minister Wilson is depicted in the front-page cartoon as a portly swinger, complete with such Trudeau trappings as a belted raincoat and florid tie.

"I don't see why Pierre Trudeau should be the only trendy P.M. Mary," the fictional Wilson remarked to his wife.

Inside Canada House, at the Sunday news conference, one British reporter commented that "Trudeau really had nothing to disclose and he spent 45 minutes not disclosing things."

CAME TO SEE

The London journalists, in this view, were not so much interested in what Trudeau had to say as in how he looked after the recent barrage of press publicity here about him.

The Canadian's arrival has given what could be a badly-needed lift to the Commonwealth cause as the 28 delegation heads prepare to open their conference Tuesday.

She now employs about 20 workers, but says it was only recently she realized "there were all kinds of pretty things available for girls and nothing out-of-the-ordinary for boys."

She recently designed the first line of little boys' clothing, ranging in size from 2 to 6X and priced between $7 and $10. Her designs range from woven

HUNTERS SHOOT LARGE COUGAR

When the stock car racing season ends in September there's a long wait until the next race the following May. But stock car drivers are an active bunch and they keep just as busy in the off season, pursuing a variety of sports, including hunting. Brothers Ken Foster, left, and Ralph Foster, pose with one of the largest cougars ever shot in this area. Ken shot the animal Sunday near Glen Lake, west of Peachland. The big cat, which weighed between 180 and 200 pounds, measured seven feet, six-inches from tip of its nose to the end of its tail and was feasting on a calf moose it had just killed. Foster had the cat treed three different times before the eighth shot from a .22 rifle did the job. Ken competes with car 38 in the C modified class at the Billy Foster Memorial Raceway and Ralph is the track's starter and flagman.

Nevin's Return Helps Rangers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

New York Rangers may be getting ready once again to take a place among the leaders in the Eastern Division of the National Hockey League.

The Rangers, having difficulty scoring goals this season, broke out Sunday night with a 5-1 victory against Minnesota North Stars.

The five goals were the most scored by the Rangers in one game since last Oct. 30 when they blasted Pittsburgh Penguins 7-3.

With only 109 goals this season, the Rangers have been the worst team in the Eastern Division offensively. Toronto Maple Leafs have 110 goals.

But the Rangers received some encouraging news Monday when it was announced right winger Bob Nevin, the team's leading scorer, would return to action Thursday night in Philadelphia.

Nevin, with 18 goals and 15 assists, has been sidelined for five games with a strained left knee.

In games tonight, Montreal Canadiens visit Minnesota North Stars and Los Angeles

Kings meet the Blues at St. Louis. Wednesday, Philadelphia Flyers are at Toronto and St. Louis faces the Black Hawks at Chicago.

NOW IN FIFTH

The Rangers are in fifth place with 43 points, two less than Chicago and Toronto but only six off the pace set by first-place Montreal.

The first encouraging sign for New York fans came during the weekend when right winger Rod Gilbert picked up three goals in two games.

The goals brought Gilbert's season total to 12. He has missed nine games with an ankle injury suffered in Toronto Dec. 7.

The return of Gilbert, a 29-goal scorer last season, and Nevin, a 28-goal man, could help the Rangers move up in the standings.

To make room for Nevin, the Rangers sent rookie forward Bob Jones shuffling back to Buffalo of the American Hockey League.

Goaltending Has Lifted Blues To Top Spot In West Division

MONTREAL (CP) — There were smirks and knowing looks among hockey people when St. Louis Blues drafted veteran goaltender Glenn Hall from Chicago Black Hawks in the National Hockey League's initial expansion draft in June 1967, after Hall had announced his retirement.

The looks turned to outright astonishment when one year later St. Louis coach Scotty Bowman softly slipped the name of Jacques Plante into the draft proceedings, picking him from New York Rangers, although Plante had been out of pro hockey since, his retirement in 1965.

Hall, now 37, and Plante, almost 40, have since proved Bowman a shrewd judge in a hockey deal.

The two St. Louis veterans have such a lead in the goaltending race that it would take more than a dozen goals by Los Angeles Kings in tonight's game to put their mid-season Vezina Trophy lead in jeopardy.

The goaltenders for the team with the fewest goals against after each team has played 38 games—exactly half this season's schedule—share $250 as mid-season Vezina Trophy leaders.

Considering that Los Angeles hasn't scored a goal in its last two games, the pair appear to be a shoo-in for the prize.

LEADS LEAGUE

NHL statistics released today show that Plante, who leads the league in shutouts, has a fantastic average of 1.76 goals against per game, a mark he never attained even while winning six Vezina Trophy titles with Montreal Canadiens in the 1950s.

He and Hall, whose average is 2.46 and who has three shutouts, have a combined average of 2.11. Boston Bruins, with Gerry Cheevers and Ed Johnston, have a combined total of 91 goals against and a 2.33 average compared to 78 given up by the Plante-Hall combination.

of the defensive spotlight last week when they became the first team since at least 1946-47 to be involved in two straight 0-0 ties. The first was against St. Louis and the second at Oakland.

While there is little doubt as to the mid-season winners in the goaltending battle, the situation isn't quite as decisive in the scoring race.

Bobby Hull of Chicago appears to have the $500 award for leading the scoring race after all teams have played 38 games, but Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings could be nosed out of the $250 runner-up award by Phil Esposito of Boston.

Chicago and Detroit have both played 38 games, but Boston still has two to reach the halfway point.

HULL LEADS

Hull, who leads in goals with 27, has 56 points, four more than Howe.

Esposito has 40, which puts him in a third-place tie with Chicago's Stan Mikita. Howe and Mikita share the lead in assists with 34.

The Art Ross Trophy, for the top scorer, and the Vezina, are the only trophies this season which carry half-season awards.

Namath Among Four Passers Better Than Colts' Morrall

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Joe Namath has started the Super Bowl's first feud.

Namath, quarterback of the American Football League champion New York Jets, said Monday on television that there were at least four better passers in the AFL than Baltimore Colts' Earl Morrall.

Namath listed Daryle Lamont of Oakland Raiders, John Hadl of Kansas City Chiefs, Bob Griese of Miami Dolphins, and the National Football League's Player of the Year.

He also said his backup quarterback with the Jets, Babe Parilli, could have played with Baltimore this year, and might have done a better job than Morrall. He said Parilli throws better.

Namath said he didn't care if his observations stimulated Baltimore in Sunday's Super Bowl battle with the Jets, for the professional football championship.

Coach Don Shula of the Colts heard about Namath's comments and replied:

"I don't know how Namath can rap Earl. . . . He had a great completion percentage, led the league in touchdowns, passed, threw for huge chunks of yardage. . . . We're happy with Earl."

Shula wasn't deterred from praising Namath as one of the top quarterbacks in the game.

Asked how he felt about his team being an 18-point favorite, Shula said he paid no attention to such things.

Announce New Healing Substance: Shrinks Piles

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most important of all—results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue.

Now Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores. Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Lebanese, Israel Officials Meet To Discuss Charges

JERUSALEM (CP) — Lebanese and Israeli officials have met to discuss Israel's charges that Arab guerrillas have been crossing Lebanon's southern frontier to attack Israeli settlements.

The Lebanese government said the meetings were held at the border "within the scope of the mixed armistice commission and under the supervision of United Nations observers."

"Questions discussed at these meetings concerned the investigation of complaints and disputes arising from violations of the terms of the 1948 armistice agreement," the Beirut government said.

Lebanese leaders have claimed repeatedly that the guerrillas do not use their country as a base and that no attacks have been mounted from Lebanon.

Lebanese Defence Minister Hussein Ouweini told a news conference Israel had turned down a Lebanese proposal that UN observers be permitted into Israel to investigate the charges that the guerrillas came from Lebanon to launch their attacks.

The meetings may help take the border situation off the boil, but the disclosure that they have taken place is certain to embarrass the Lebanese government.

Trudeau's Companion Criticized By Her Stepbrother In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau's blonde London luncheon companion, Eva Rittinghausen, was indiscreet in telling reporters she and the prime minister are in love, her stepbrother said here Monday.

"If she had any sense she wouldn't have made these comments," said Herman Schaad, catering manager at a Vancouver hotel.

"If she had just been quiet and discreet for once it might have meant something, but this way..."

"I just think she shouldn't have made those remarks," Mr. Trudeau's stepbrother, Mr. Rittinghausen, said for a luncheon date Saturday, before retiring to the British prime minister's country home for a weekend conference with Harold Wilson.

She later told reporters she met the prime minister last August at the home of the family of Louis St. Laurent, former prime minister, and it was "love at first sight."

Mr. Trudeau said he has no plans to marry "this acquaintance."

Mrs. Rittinghausen, divorced several years ago, was born in Kentville, N.S. The family moved to Germany before the Second World War and returned to Canada at its conclusion.

Mr. Schaad said he rarely hears from Eva, getting an occasional postcard.

"It seems she slips off to New York or Capri like you and I go to the corner drugstore," he said.

Eva is very beautiful, a Grace Kelly in looks, but nowhere as discreet I'm afraid," he said.

He said their parents will be "furious at her for pulling a stunt like this one."

"She's a bit older than the 35 she is said to be, but I guess 35 sounds fine and it's not much off."

Opening lead—king of spades.

Sylvia had only the vaguest notion of what constituted a finesse when she started to play at the club. Of course, there were many other areas of the game in which she was equally ignorant—to put it mildly—but this did not stop her from playing regularly in the expert game.

It would surely have been more sensible for Sylvia to play only with the non-experts in the club, but from the very beginning she was fired with a bulldog determination to master the game by playing with only the best players, regardless of cost.

You can fairly well judge how Sylvia (South) bid and played in those days by studying this hand. In her view, five diamonds was clearly a right bid, since she had a very good hand and saw no reason whatever to bid less than game. She barely noticed the exceptionally fine dummy that came down, dismissing it as no more than her due.

West cashed two spades and shifted to the ten of hearts. Sylvia won with the ace and promptly led the queen of clubs. She remembered having heard of a play called a finesse, and she reasoned that if West had the king her queen would win the trick because she intended to follow low from dummy.

But West covered the queen with the king and Sylvia had to win in dummy with the ace. Undismayed by this setback, she proceeded to cash all her trumps, retaining only the K-Q of hearts in dummy. On the last trump lead, East, now reduced to the J-8-7 of hearts and Jack of clubs, had to find a discard.

He could not spare a heart, so he discarded the Jack of clubs. Sylvia was not quite sure her eight of clubs was high but she led it anyway, and when it won the trick, the contract was made. She had unwittingly executed one of the rarest and most difficult plays in bridge—the transfer squeeze.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

Another good day — one in which you should be able to solve most problems and difficult situations with ease. A good Venus aspect in the late P.M. stimulates artistic and romantic interests.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that your interests should be in a fairly stable condition right now. This is a good time, therefore, to make long-range plans where both job and monetary affairs are concerned, and to set new goals for yourself, especially since several helpful planetary periods are forecast within the next 12 months. Your goals may not be dramatic during these cycles, but they will add up to gratifying advancement where material interests are concerned. To be specific: In monetary affairs, you are promised most generous periods between now and April 15th; others during the last two weeks of July, the weeks between September 15th and October 15th and in the weeks between November 15th and December 15th. After that, it would be well to consolidate gains while looking forward to a fine 2-month period for fiscal expansion, beginning with the first of next January. Do not speculate in early September or early November, however.

Job interests should prosper for most of the year ahead, but your most outstanding periods for accomplishment — and recognition — will occur during the first two weeks of February, the first two weeks of July, throughout September, early October, mid-November and late December. Those engaged in artistic pursuits and Capricorn hosts many of you should have an outstandingly good year, with June, August and next December, star-promoted as notable periods for accomplishment.

Personal matters will also be governed by generous influences during the next year, so you should experience happy developments in your domestic, social and sentimental life. Romance will be especially highlighted throughout May, August and next December, and late November — stimulating activities between early June and early September, late September and December. Most

North Ireland Boosts Police

BELFAST (AP) — The government has ordered a massive police buildup for Northern Ireland and Home Minister William Long said his first step would be to mobilize more part-time policemen. There are about 3,000 regular police.

Roman Catholic vigilantes patrolled their own neighborhood in Londonderry, charging that most of the police were Protestants and had smashed Catholics' windows and beaten up their women and children during weekend disturbances.

The police denied the charges but ordered an investigation.

Meanwhile Londonderry was quiet again. Nearly 200 persons were injured in Londonderry in two nights of violence involving Roman Catholic civil rights demonstrators and militant Protestants. Damage was estimated in excess of £100,000.

The six counties of Northern Ireland have been swept by civil disorders since Oct. 5, when Roman Catholics first started staging civil rights demonstrations, claiming they were being discriminated against in jobs and housing. They clashed with militant Protestants, who see the civil rights campaign as a threat to Northern Ireland's ties with Britain.

A government communiqué issued after a cabinet meeting Monday said the demonstrations have reached a point at which "agitation is not just expressing a legitimate point of view but is attempting to bypass and discredit the ordinary processes of democratic government."

Although it approved the big police buildup, the cabinet refused to approve a ban on all political parades and demonstrations.

OIL TRUCK EXPLODES

As firemen battle flames in Gulf Oil Terminal at Chelsea, Mass., a parked tank car explodes in background. At least six persons were injured in fire in Boston Harbor section of Chelsea.

South Vietnam Ministers To Be Closely Guarded

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government tightened security for cabinet officers Monday following the assassination of Education Minister Le Minh Tri by a terrorist bomb.

Combat police in regular army uniforms were assigned to guard each cabinet member and give him an armed jeep escort wherever he went.

While there were hints in Saigon newspapers that the fatal blast which wrecked Tri's car could have been something other than a Viet Cong attack, the government called it "an act of terrorism by the Communists."

Tri, 43, died in the French-run Grall Hospital during an operation to remove shrapnel from his head.

Political developments overshadowed the military, though thousands of American, South Vietnamese and other allied troops and scores of aircraft hunted Communists in widely separated sectors.

President Nguyen Van Thieu's government maintained silence on President-elect Nixon's appointment of Henry Cabot Lodge as his chief negotiator in the Paris peace talks. A spokesman turned aside all questions with: "No comment."

SEE HARD LINE

Unofficially, however, South Vietnamese were inclined to view the appointment of Lodge, twice ambassador to South Vietnam, and the retention of Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker in Saigon, as indications that the Nixon administration would take a hard line in Paris.

The South Vietnamese army, confirming weekend reports, announced it plans to release 10 Viet Cong prisoners of war as a humanitarian gesture. They are to be turned loose in a ceremony at Bien Hoa, a military base 15 miles north of Saigon.

Tri was wounded fatally when the bomb, apparently fashioned from a U.S. grenade fortified with plastic explosives, demolished his car at a crowded Saigon intersection.

His driver was killed and three other persons—two bodyguards and a passerby—were wounded.

Witnesses said the bomb was tossed by two youths who escaped on a motorcycle.

Tri was the first high official of the South Vietnamese government to be assassinated since President Nguyen Van Thieu took office in November, 1967.

But almost all those of ministerial rank have received threats against their lives.

New Coast Port Is No Threat To Waterfowl

VANCOUVER (CP) — Development of the Roberts Bank deepsea port, 30 miles south of Vancouver, isn't a serious threat to waterfowl, says the new director of the Canadian Wildlife Service.

Dr. John S. Tenier, a mammalogist whose home is in Vernon, said in a telephone interview Sunday from Ottawa that the CWS had studied the possible effects of the port and concluded that it is properly controlled; there won't be a major problem.

"The National Harbors Board has assured us every possible precaution will be taken to prevent pollution of the water in the area. We are quite certain there won't be a problem for migratory birds."

This community had 265.23 inches of rain in 1968 to give it the highest total for Canada and one of the highest in the world, said a spokesman for Vancouver weather office.

Downtown Vancouver recorded a "dry" 60.23 inches in 1968, Toronto had 30.56 inches and Montreal 41.19 inches of precipitation.

Tax Reform Bill To Be Delayed

TORONTO (CP) — A draft bill for over-all reform of Canada's taxation law probably will not be ready before June, Finance Minister Benson said Monday.

He told a meeting of the Canadian Club he had originally hoped to have the bill ready in March. But the drafting was proving more complicated than foreseen.

Waiters Show Appreciation Of Tips With A Loud Roar

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The maitre d' glanced at the tip left on the tray, drew in his breath with a hiss, and let out a bloodcurdling roar. The dozen other waiters at Taipei's Peking Duck restaurant took up the cry.

Roused from their well-fed drowsiness, the mortified customers jerked upright. Was the tip horribly insufficient?

No. It was the full-throated pekinese way of saying thank you to the generous patrons.

That waiters could be so robustly joyful is but one of the dozens of unexpected reactions the world-weary tourist is finding in Formosa, lush island seat of the government of Nationalist China. For years, tourists were not really encouraged to visit Formosa because President Chiang Kai-shek was too busy planning to return to mainland China.

He still dreams of going back, but his tight little island has relaxed its watchful attitude to foreigners, and the tourist floodgates have opened.

VISITORS INCREASE

Last year more than 250,000 visitors flew into Formosa, a convenient stopover between Tokyo and Hong Kong. Many more have visited this year.

What they discover is a microcosm of what mainland China used to be before the Communist regime.

Formosa lies 100 miles off the mainland coast and is less than one-third of one per cent of China's total territory. But its smallness has sharpened the flavor.

The 2,000,000 mainlanders who fled the Communists in 1949 brought their talents with them to Formosa.

The food is one of the great Formosan attractions. The scenery is another. In the old days the island, for the first 50 years of this century a Japanese colony, had a seamy reputation as a bachelors' paradise, particularly at the numerous hot springs resorts along the mountain foothills.

HIGHWAYS SCENIC

The newly opened east-west cross island highway is a 150-mile ride through fantastic gorges with abysses dropping below you and cliffs above, of hair-raising ascents to above 8,000 feet.

One 30-mile stretch hacked out of the side of a ravine is called "the promenade of suspense." It is a one way road used by two-way traffic, even though the occasional concrete fence posts give scant protection against 3,000-foot drops to the blue ribbons of river below.

The island is surrounded with beautiful white beaches, but visitors are advised to resist the temptation to peel off and swim. Only a few areas are open for the public. Soldiers patrol the coasts.

Accommodations throughout the island are comfortable and of moderate cost.

Tooth Transplants Limited Says Chilliwack Dentist

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP) — A dental surgeon in this Fraser Valley community says dentists are limited in tooth transplant operations because in many instances "it's like robbing Peter to pay Paul."

Dr. W. H. Sussel, a pioneer among Western Canadian dentists in tooth transplant techniques, said the problem is that the scope for moving teeth around is the limited number each person has.

For instance, if a person gets a front tooth knocked out, there are only three others in his mouth that can be moved in to fill the gap. And filling the gap leaves another hole of equal prominence.

"It would be like cutting off an ear on one side of the head to graft it to the other," said Dr. Sussel, who has been performing tooth transplants for 2½ years.

Most transplants, he said, involve persons between 13 and 22 years of age. The operations involve back molars, which are the most mobile of the teeth in terms of transplants.

The day is still a long way off when teeth can be successfully transplanted from one patient to another, though there have been some attempts in this direction recently in the United States, said Dr. Sussel.

He said tooth transplants run up against many of the same complications as heart transplants, rejection of the foreign material by the recipient.

Also, said Dr. Sussel, research in tooth transplants is being hampered by many dentists who refuse to give up their obsession with the "mechanical expedient" of placing fixed bridges in people's mouths.

He said the change in thinking will have to start with the dental schools rather than the practicing profession.
